Biographical Information

Young Hughley is one of the most innovative and creative leaders in the area of community development and revitalization. He is a housing developer and community builder and serves as the President and CEO of the Reynoldstown Revitalization Corporation (RRC). He is responsible for overall activities of RRC which include: fund raising and special events, housing development, program management, community education, staff management, capacity building programs and partnership development.

Young's passion for community empowerment and affordable housing is phenomenal. He speaks from principle rather than expediency. He has never looked back from pursuing his vision for community building and deals with the human condition in a compassionate and practical way. His training is diverse and extensive to include: project development and management, leadership and management of programs for community building, multi-family management and non-profit multifamily management. Young's employees refer to him as someone with good abstract-reasoning and interpersonal skills. They admire him for his capable leadership qualities. He is highly respected by the Advisory Council and Board of Directors of RRC and Reynoldstown Civic Improvement League (RCIL). Young is a native of Georgia; and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Morehouse College. He has been the recipient of several awards and professional certifications a number of which are listed below.
